Beware Of the Knife.

Mr. Lincoln Nelson, of Marshall, Mo., writes: "For six years I have been a sufferer from a scrofulous affection of the glands of my neck, and all efforts of physicians in Washington, D. C., Springfield, Ill., and St. Louis failed to reduce the enlargement. After six months' constant treatment here, my physician urged me to submit to a removal of the gland. At this critical moment a friend recommended S.S.S., and laying aside a deep-rooted prejudice against all patent medicines, I began its use. Before I had used one bottle the enlargement began to disappear, and now it is entirely gone, though I am not through with my second bottle yet. Had I only used your S.S.S. long ago, I would have escaped years of misery and saved over $500."

This experience is like that of all who suffer with deep-seated blood troubles. The doctors can do no good, and even their resorts to the knife prove either fruitless or fatal. S.S.S. is the only real blood remedy; it gets to the root of the disease and forces it out permanently.

S.S.S. (guaranteed purely vegetable)
A Real Blood Remedy.
It cures the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, Eczema, Cancer, Rheumatism, etc., which other so-called blood remedies fail to touch. S.S.S. gets at the root of the disease and forces it out permanently. Valuable cures will be sent free to any address by the Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

THEY WERE SKINNED ALIVE.

THE N. Y. SUN EXPOSES THE McKINLEY AID SCHEME.

With No Principles, Platform or Party, They Simply Seek to Betray and Plunder.

A FEW POSITIONS EXPLAINED.

The New York Sun has taken hold of the so-called national Democracy and its Kentucky branch, and shaken the life out of it in a very vigorous fashion. The Sun is a gold standard McKinley paper which was once Democratic, and was a partner with the Courier Journal in the deal which carried the late election for McKinley. The Dispatch reproduces an article from the Sun, so that the people of Kentucky may see how contemptible the whole proceeding is on the part of the Courier-Journal and its committee of thirteen, who are endeavoring to reorganize the Republican aid society in this State. The Sun says:

"The so-called national Democracy which was differentiated from the regular national Democracy at Indianapolis last year and cast about 122,000 votes in November, as against over 6,500,000 polled for Bryan, has something of an organization in Kentucky, which has been issued a call for a State convention to be held at Louisville soon, for the nomination of a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals."

The tone, character and spirit of this call are expressed in the extract below: "We appeal to all Democrats to unite with us, as we believe, as we do, in sound money; in a tariff for revenue only; in the honest and full payment of all lawful obligations; in law and order, and in the protection of property from lawlessness and riot; in the restoration of good feeling, instead of arraying citizens and classes against each other; and in the protection of the name and credit of the commonwealth."

It will be seen that the purposes announced are general and specific, as regards the currency issue. To demand "sound money" merely is to beg the question. What is sound money? That is the question which is the great political issue of this time. The Democracy of the Chicago platform—the regular Democracy—say it is unlimited silver, coined free, at the ratio of 16 to 1. At least, that is sound money for them. But the platform of the Indianapolis convention of the national Democrats who have sent out this Kentucky call, "insists upon the maintenance of the gold standard and of the parity therewith of every dollar issued by the Government," and declares firm opposition "to the free and unlimited coinage of silver." Why, then, did not the call from which we have quoted define "sound money" as the single gold standard? Then the National Democrats of Kentucky would have had a clear definition, and everybody would have known exactly where they stood.

But in another plank the Indianapolis platform itself confused the subject of "currency reform" by this declaration: "We denounce also the further maintenance of the present patchwork system of national paper currency as a constant source of injury and peril. We assert the necessity of such intelligent currency reform as will place the Government to its legitimate function, completely separated from the banking business, and afford to all sections of our country a uniform, safe, and elastic bank currency under governmental supervision, measured in volume by the needs of business."

The issue of circulating notes not being banking business, but only an exercise upon it, the Government is not now in that business; but so far as this plank is interpretable it means that the whole business of issuing circulating notes should be taken away from the Government and given to the banks alone. As bank currency, however, is to be "under Government supervision," how is it to be completely separated from the banking business by the adoption of the Indianapolis proposition?

If the Government is to go out of the business of issuing circulating notes, and the exercise of the function is to be turned over to the banks solely and for their exclusive benefit, the greenbacks and the treasury notes must be retired and bonds issued, on which the bank currency shall be based, or else the "elastic currency" allowed will be a wildcat currency purely. The banks would be sure winners under such a plan; but who else would get any profit from it? Are the people so much in love with the banks that they will make a sacrifice of $10,000,000 or $15,000,000 a year for their benefit? The proposition would not get even serious consideration in congress, and when the consequences involved in it were understood by the people they would reject it almost unanimously, and with contempt. It is a device to substitute sound money for sound, and for the benefit of the banks, and nothing else.

What is the use, then, of any political faction undertaking to found a platform on such a rotten plank?

Prosperity Boomers.
(Louisville Dispatch.)
The gold bug newspapers are very much like the real estate agent who was booming a town where the graveyard was larger than the population. The skeptical investor commented on the unhealthy locality and pointed to the graveyard as an evidence of the high death rate. The real estate agent said: "Yes, this has been a sickly place, and the population of the graveyard has been growing faster than the population of the town, but the health of the community is improving all the time. It is true that we are having a good many deaths every day, but just look at the people who have escaped."

These prosperity boomers are very much encouraged because there were not as many failures last week, as there were the week before. It is true that a great many are failing, but the prospect of good crops will operate as a temporary check on the growth of the commercial graveyard, and they are very boastful of a financial situation which enables such a larger number to escape, even temporarily. When the banks and monopolies join in with the banks to loosen up finances a little, and mark up stocks a few points, the gold standard press points to it as an evidence of prosperity. Every time the price of pig iron advances it is heralded as a sign of prosperity. According to these gold bug organs the lower estate goes in value, and the lower the prices of labor and products of labor go, and the higher we put the tariff taxes, and the harder we make it for people to get money to pay their bills, the greater our prosperity will be. The gold standard will be judged by its effects on prices, on property and business generally, and not by the fluctuations of a day, a week, or a month, nor by the results which always follow the harvest of another crop. After all, each man has a gauge by which to measure general prosperity, and that is his own personal experience, and it is by this gauge that it will be measured rather than by the false statements published in newspapers retained for the purpose of exploiting fictions and suppressing facts.

There is no? About It.
No question indeed with those who have it, but that Foley's Kidney Cure is absolutely reliable for all Kidney and Bladder diseases.

WILLIAMS & BELL, Hartford, R. E. LICK & Co., Rockport.

Of Interest to Teachers.

The county school Superintendents have received the following communication from Superintendent of Public Instruction Davidson, which will prove of interest to teachers:

Questions involving the following points of law reach this office with such frequency that it is thought not out of place to communicate with you relative to them:

FIRST—The provision relative to age of applicants is clear and explicit, county boards having no authority to examine any one under eighteen years of age.

SECOND—It is clearly a violation of law and an infraction of official oath to grant a certificate to an applicant who, within the belief of the examiners, has had improper access to the examination questions.

THIRD—The fact that the judge and the clerk did not take an oath does not invalidate the election of a trustee election.

FOURTH—The law which provides that "the examiners shall allot a reasonable time for the examination on each subject, taking the subjects in the order named in the section (Sec. 31) specifying the subject embraced in the common school course," is mandatory, and should be strictly followed.

FIFTH—In case of a tie, as provided for in section 73, common school law, the County Superintendent is empowered to select a trustee. In doing so, he may name one of the candidates, or he may choose another. In either case the appointee serves the regular term.

SIXTH—Section 74, common school law, is not in conflict with section 132, State Constitution, section 155 of that instrument exempting trustees elections.

SEVENTH—The provision of law relative to the removal of first-class certificates was not incorporated into our statutes until July, 1893, and does not apply to any certificate issued prior to that date, and consequently no certificate can be renewed under it before July, 1901.

HOW TO FIND OUT.
Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kalmers' Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists; price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention THE HERALD and send your full post-office address to Dr. Kalmers & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietor of this paper guarantees the genuineness of this offer.

Why Spain has Failed in Cuba.
(Mr. Toss, Gold Alford, Jr., in the July Forum.)
General Weyler should have subdued the rebellion within ninety days. No untrained military authority has studied the two forces, and made due allowance for the advantages possessed by those who fight upon their native soil, will dissent from this proposition. There are Spanish generals in Cuba who admit its truth. There are others who have returned, disgusted, to Spain because their suggestions of plans to end the war were not allowed to be disclosed at the Palace. A four months' stay in Cuba, beginning in January and ending with April of this year, much of which time was passed in observing the forces in the field, has resulted in the conviction, on my part, that it has not been the purpose of General Weyler to end the rebellion. Conversations with Spanish officers, from generals to corporals, showed that the same motives that were evidently actuating the commander in allowing the war to drag along were prompting a large proportion of the staff and line in carrying out the policy of their superior. The recital of a few experiences, the description of actual conditions, an explanation of methods employed, and an account of the poor result achieved where success was possible, will prove this indictment. If it be admitted that General Weyler has the slightest military ability, the situation in Cuba today will convict him.

PALPITATION.
Always a Symptom of Nerve or Heart Weakness.
Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, receives many letters from women who have been cured of all forms of weakness by his great remedy, Pe-r-u-na. Mrs. E. S. Lane, Barnard, Mo., writes: "I have taken in all three bottles of Pe-r-u-na. I think it the best medicine that I ever saw. It has helped me wonderfully. So many of those bad symptoms have left me entirely. I was also a great sufferer from constipation, but now I am cured, and I only had to take a bottle and a half. When I commenced taking your medicine life was a burden to me. I could only just drag about the house, but now I do my own work and feel so much better every day."

Send To The Pe-r-u-na Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio, for free book written expressly for women.

An exchange gives the following excellent advice to girls, which is applicable to any town: "Those young fellows who stand in front of the post-office to show their shape, and those who stand sneaking near the church door or school house door to sort of catch a glimpse or catch on as you start for home, are not the ones you should marry. They will do for you to ruin yourself or to split your reputation, but boys who have the stuff in them that makes moral lovers and deserving husbands don't do things that way. If you have no higher aim than rubbing hair oil marks from the best dress you wear or doing double work in after years for your board, be scarce with outdoor waiters. The young man who catches his girl out of doors generally leaves her there when he is through with his little game. The young man who expects to have a home always goes in the house and does the manly, sensible thing, and you will be better off to remember it."

"I have never had a day's sickness in my life," said a middle-aged man the other day.

"What a comfort it would be," sighs some poor invalid, "to be in his place for a year or two." Yet half of the invalids we see might be just as healthy as he, if they would only take proper care of themselves, eat proper food—and digest it.

It is so strange that such simple things are overlooked by those who want health.

Food makes strength—and strength wards off sickness. The man who has never been sick was strong because he has always digested his food, and you could become the same by helping your stomach to work as well as his. Shaker Digestive Cordial will help your stomach and will make you strong and healthy by making the food you eat make you fat.

Druggists sell it. Trial bottle 10 cents.

You must not make flesh of one and bone of another—make both for yourself by using Dr. Bell's Peppermint Chili Tonic—do you good if you never had a chill. If you are having chills now it will cure them—cure them when everything else fails.

Women Run This Town.
Last spring the women of the little town of Jamestown, in Cloud county, Kansas, organized and elected an entire ticket of women, from mayor down. They promised to rid the town of saloons and gambling. After a fight for two months they were compelled to take the law into their hands, and recently a band of resolute women, shortly after midnight, went to Miller's saloon with axes, hatchets and hammers and smashed the building and furniture into fragments. Beer and whisky were spilled in the streets and the bar, furniture and fixtures were scattered about the premises. A notice was posted warning Miller to leave the town and threatening vengeance on any others who should undertake to run a saloon or joint in town.

John Griffin, of Zanesville, O., says: "I never lived a day for thirty years without suffering agony, until a box of De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve cured my piles." For piles and rectal troubles, cuts, bruises, sprains, eczema and all skin troubles De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled.

Enormous Demand for Gold.
(Chicago Dispatch.)
That the closing of the mints to silver had any effect on the white metal is strenuously denied by the goldite organs.

This denial is made to support their theory that one cannot create value by legislation, and in face of the fact that when the mint of India was closed to silver the price fell more than 20 per cent in three days. These clever writers also ignore the fact that when Japan went to the gold standard, that nation never coined more than $10,000,000 a year, the price of silver fell off several points.

With a charming lack of logic the brilliant financiers of the Republic are now announcing that there is a marked increase in the output of gold, and that as a consequence prices of commodities will rise. In the statement of the fact that there has been an enormous increase in the demand for gold is entirely ignored.

If, upon comparing the demand for gold with the supply of that metal, it is found that there is not gold enough to keep the prices of commodities at a reasonable figure, then the conclusion must inevitably follow that there is not enough gold produced to satisfy the demand.

In 1873 only two nations in the world were on a gold basis, namely: Great Britain and Portugal. These countries had at that time a population of about 42,000,000. To-day there are about 430,000,000 people who are making demands on gold. Has the increase in the production of gold kept pace with the increase in demand for it? Of course it has not, and that settles the question.

Vim; vigor and victory—these are the characteristics of De Witt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills for constipation, biliousness and all stomach and liver troubles. For sale by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

July Ladies' Home Journal.
In spirit and sentiment the July Ladies' Home Journal is interestingly in accord with that of our National birth-month. An article on "The Greatest Nation on Earth," by William George Jordan, pictures, in a most vivid way, the vastness of the United States, and by simple comparisons and telling illustrations contrasts every phase of our greatness with that of other nations. Allied in patriotic sentiment is Clifford Howard's article, "When Dolly Madison Saved the Declaration of Independence." This tells the story of the heroism of President Madison's wife, who saved the most precious document in American history from falling into the hands of the British when Washington was in flames.

"The Women's Patriotic Societies" gives the aims and purposes of these organizations and the requisites for membership. "Fifty Years of Postage Stamps" brings to mind that just a half century ago our Government made and sold its first stamps for letter postage.

Every time we go to Louisville we stop at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. For a cozy little hotel of about a hundred rooms and good attention, there is nothing better to be found than the Fifth Avenue, Louisville.

Claim Agent and the Swede Farmer.
(Chicago Times-Herald.)
An old Swede farmer who lives on the Baltimore and Ohio route a few miles out of town had the misfortune to lose a valuable cow the other day. The animal jumped out of a pasture, ran down upon the railway and was caught in a cut by an express train. The claim agent of the road went to effect amicable settlement, if possible, with the old man.

"We are very sorry, of course, that this affair happened," said the railway man, "and I hope it will not be necessary for us to go to court."

The old farmer looked at him suspiciously and shifted about uneasily, but said nothing.

"You must remember," continued the claim agent, "that your cow was a trespasser on our property when the accident occurred. We don't want any litigation, however, if you can help it, and we'd like to arrange a settlement with you on as friendly basis."

"Vell," slowly said the Swede, "Ay tai you, Ay bin sorry das foot cold runned on de railroad track, but Ay bin a poor man. Ay skal give you tree tollas!"

"I Crave but One Minute," said the public speaker in a husky voice; and then he took a dose of One Minute Cough Cure, and proceeded with his oratory. One Minute Cough Cure is unequalled for throat and lung troubles. For sale by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

True as Gospel.
The Frankfort Capitol, the best edited Republican paper in the State in speaking of the condition of Kentucky Democrats very truthfully says: "They are united now for the principles of the Chicago platform. The National Democrats are led this year as last, by Watterson, Davis, Humphrey Breckinridge, Yost and such old-time leaders. But Lindsey and Carlisle and many other influential Democrats will not be heard from. And then, to put the matter plainly, there is no enthusiasm for the cause of National Democracy. Last year the fight was for an impending issue; this year it is for an abstract principle and an obscure office; and the conservative business men are not easily excited over an abstraction, nor are they to be enthused over an office."

Tutt's Pills

A Great Orator.
Daniel W. Voorhees, who died in Washington not long since, was perhaps the best orator of his generation. A little extract from his closing remarks in the defense of John E. Cook, at Charleston, Va., in 1859, occurs to our mind just now, and we deem it worthy of reprinting. Cook had pleaded guilty and Voorhees was only asking for mercy, to save his client from the sentence of death. His closing remarks were:

"And now, gentlemen of the jury, I close. I have said all that can ever be said in behalf of the fair-haired youth who sits before you confessing his guilt, and pleading to you in piteous appeals for his life. I leave now and go to my distant home beyond the sunset slopes of your western mountains. When next we meet it will be in that court up yonder, before that awful tribunal where the only plea that can save you or me from a more horrible penalty than you can possibly inflict on this young man, will be mercy. Spare his life by your verdict, and when you stand before the awful throne of a final judgment, with mercy for your plea, the spirit of John E. Cook will strike the song on the dulcet harp of an angel: 'Have mercy on them, Father, for once they showed mercy to me. Then will the Father remember His promise, 'Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy.'"

Mardi Gras Seed.
A Galveston (Tex.) firm recently received the following letter: "I have read so much about Mardi Gras that I would like for you to tell me where I can get the seed, and if you think it is a good grass to feed cattle. Let me know as soon as you can and oblige."

Horses' Sore Mouth.
(Exchange.)
Many horses, especially during the first year of their working period, are constantly in possession of a sore mouth, but this not only causes the animal great suffering and usually loss of flesh, but is also a matter of great inconvenience to the driver.

This if continued for several months, is also liable to leave the animal with a chronic habit, such as throwing the head while hitching or unhitching. We have in view one very valuable young horse, owned by a neighbor, which became almost worthless on account of the habit of throwing its head, and at the same time lunging sideways into the ditch.

The most effective plan which we have ever tried consists of winding any ordinary bit at the corners and down on the same for about an inch, will (tanned sheepskin (which can be procured at any harness store), without being sure that it is not too thick and heavy. With this well wound on, now have a cup of sulphur, and each time the bit is placed in the horse's mouth moisten the leather and rub on a little of the pulverized article. It is well also to lengthen the bridle as much as possible during this time and not drive with a tight checking rein.

After having adopted this plan we succeeded in curing a young horse of a very sore mouth which was contracted during the working period the past season.

Tobacco Fly Poison.
Take a quantity of cobalt, put in a widemouthed bottle, pour in whisky enough to thoroughly wet and slightly cover it. Let it stand all night and next day put two parts of sugar syrup to one of the mixture. Late in the afternoon put two or three drops of the paste in each tin box on the place and the next morning pull the blooms off. Repeat this every day and it will save ten times the labor and increase the value of the tobacco crop by 25 to 50 per cent. Cobalt is very cheap and never fails to kill tobacco flies.

CASTORIA.
The family signature of Dr. H. H. H. is on every wrapper.

Republican Criticism of Taxed Mides.
According to the protective theory the imposition of a tax on noncompetitive articles adds to their cost to the consumer. This theory would be applied exemplified in the proposed duties on hides, as the people would be compelled to pay more for their footwear. It is estimated that the increased cost of boots and shoes for one year under the proposed duty would amount to $30,000,000. With few hides our manufacturers of leather goods have been able to build up a great export trade in footwear. As Mr. Blaine said when it was proposed to put a duty on hides in the law of 1890, "It will yield a profit to the butcher only—the last man that needs it." The interests of the tanners and shoe manufacturers are vastly more important than the interests of butchers and western ranchmen.—Chicago Times-Herald, Republican.

Of No Consequence.
The brewers are good campaign contributors. Therefore they are to be excused from their proper share of taxes. The wearers of clothes are of no particular account to the Mark Hanna of our time. Why shouldn't they and the consumers of sugar and shoes be made to bear the whole burden?—World.

Antique Eggs.
They had always lived in the city, but this summer they thought they would go out in the country so as to give the babies a bit of a chance to run around. So they took, a country place and he comes into the city every day with the commuters.

She decided to raise chickens, so they bought some hens and expected millions of eggs and broilers to burst—which is no idle gossip.

He went home the other night and found her out on the back doorstep perched upon the kitchen door rolled up in a bundle of straw. She was not from the spires of Arkady and Bess.

"Oh, dear," she cried, "don't go in there. It is perfectly awful. You know the old Dorking that wanted to last week. Well, I put some eggs under her as you told me to six days ago. To-day she decided that she didn't want to set any more, and the nasty thing left her nest and went out and dug up all my squash vines. I knew you wouldn't like the eggs to be wasted so I brought the eggs in and was going to make a lovely omelette for supper. But," here she paused dramatically—"I'd like to know what under the sun is the matter with those eggs."
